Issue no 2

Welcome to Issue no 2 of the technical newsletter. After the first issue we have had a lot of positive feedback in regards to the info that we put in it and we hope to keep it coming more often.

Fly wheels

It has come to our attention recently that you have been able to buy a so called AMCA flywheel on e-bay. These are not a approved item and are therefore illegal to use. Please be aware that you can be asked to remove your flywheel at any time and have it weighed.

Brakes

As some of you maybe aware we have been looking at introducing a willwood brake calliper that can be used. We will be trialing it over the coming season and then making a decsision from there. Until this is done the ruling on brakes remains the same as detailed in section 10 of the specification book.

Side Nerf Bars

A reminder that all cars are to run side nerf bars as per rule 2.6 in the Specie Book.

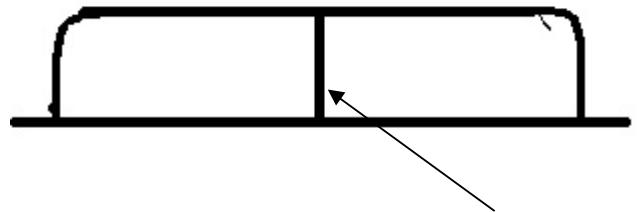

Tyres

A reminder that with tyres, you are NOT allowed to groove, buff or use any type of tyre softener on them.

Fuel Protection Bars

After some discussion we have decided to alter the fuel tank measurement that is stated in rule 12.4 from 250mm to 330mm.

It has also been decided that after seeing some of the fuel protection bars that a centre brace must now be installed in the middle of the protection bar as per drawing.

It is compulsory to have this bar in for the commencement of the 2014/15 Season.

Safety Gear

Please take time to check all of your safety gear during the off season. Remember that seat belts only have a 2 year use. Also check your helmets as if they are a snell 2005 helmet, it will need to be replaced at the end of next year.
